The Call for Innovation in the Law Department

Corporate Legal Departments are undertaking efforts to improve productivity and operational efficiencies across their teams. Top efficiency initiatives include:

- Matching the right resources with the right work at the right price. Strengthened enforcement of outside counsel guidelines is essential to ensuring value.

Want to learn more? Download the white paper.

The Call for Value

Savvy legal operations experts are driving change and innovation with a call for improvement focused on three key areas to better manage costs and drive performance:

- Technology and processes to streamline work and improve productivity
- Optimizing legal operations by matching the right resources with the right work at the right price
- Business intelligence to inform decisions

The Call for Insight

The opportunities to use data and information in more effective and strategic ways have never been so tangible.

- The call for greater efficiency, value and insight is mobilizing how legal operations professionals are taking their departments to the next level to drive exceptional performance.

- Key analytics solutions to help inform decisions include:
  - Artificial intelligence and machine learning
  - Bench-marking data
  - Reporting and visualization technology

The Call for Innovation

- Includes several case studies.

- Only 42% of law departments feel they are effectively using the information that metrics provide.

- 57.6% greater use of technology tools
- 45% greater use of paralegals and other paraprofessionals
- 44.7% internal restructuring / reorganization of resources
- 44.7% redesigning workflow processes

Citations

1 Chief Legal Officer Survey, Altman Weil, 2016
2 Ninth Annual Law Department Operations Survey, Blickstein Group and Consilio, 2017

The Call for Efficiency

The call for greater efficiency, value and insight is motivating legal operations professionals to use their departments to the next level to drive exceptional performance.